IMPERIALISM.

Joseph Pulitzer Points Out a Danger that Menaces the Republic.

What is imperialism? It is not mere external show, thrones, or crowns, or sceptres. It is the spirit of coercion, or conquest, of arbitrary power, of force, of war, of national aggrandizement, of military self-seeking, of jingo exploitation abroad among weaker peoples, ruled with no regard for equal right, in colonies and remote dependencies.

To see imperialism full blown one must go to England. At home English institutions are free. The Cabinet is a committee of Parliament. The King has not a thousandth part of your power and patronage. He could not jump a doctor, even a very skilful and agreeable one—not even Treves, who saved his life—into a major-generalship, or even a lieutenantancy. He cannot appoint a fourth class postmaster. He has none of the enormous powers over corporations which enable you, first, to make an acquisition into the secrets of every combination of capital; second, to smash one such combination as an example, and, third, to send that grand inquisitor Cortelyou, who was your own private secretary and later Cabinet member for commerce and corporations, armed with all his deadly secrets, to pass the contribution box among the others.

The members of your Cabinet are your clerks, not your masters. You yourself are the actual head of the Government, the actual commander-in-chief of the army and navy, the framer of policies, the dispenser of patronage and the arbiter of peace or war. You appoint or control, directly or indirectly, 200,000 office-holders, most of whom hold their places at your pleasure. You name the judges who interpret the very law you treat with contempt or flagrantly violate. You dictate to Congress what measures it shall pass and what it shall kill. You would be a very great potentate, even if you observed the constitutional limitations of your office. Probably you exercise more actual, personal power than any monarch on the globe.

The King of England, by comparison, is merely a fashion-plate. But the United Kingdom, with 40,000,000 inhabitants, rules over 330,000,000 people in non-self-governing crown colonies and dependencies. The welfare of one-quarter of the population of the globe is absolutely at the mercy of the governing classes of Great Britain. Three hundred million people in India, under the compulsion of a quarter of a million soldiers, live and work to furnish official berths to English younger sons and profit for English capitalists.

But England has no written Constitution. But England has no Declaration of Independence. But England is not based upon the idea of liberty and equality. On the contrary, in England everybody is a subject of the King—even dukes. In America we have no subjects—we have no room for either subjects, serfs or slaves. We are free-men. Every citizen is a sovereign—or was, in theory at least. England is based upon the idea of privilege, of birth, of rank—yes, of lawmakers not elected by the people, not selected for merit or fitness, but lawmakers by the mere accident of birth—all ideas opposed to Americans, all diametrically opposed to true Americanism, all antagonistic to our own system.

Besides, only one hour separates England from the Continent of Europe, whose 400,000,000 people have always hated her, and would have destroyed her but for her protecting mold of salt water patrolled by a great navy. She depends for life upon food brought across the ocean, and sea power is the condition of existence of her widely scattered empire.

With our own vast continent to be developed; with political and business corruption gnawing at our national life; with the gravest social and political internal problems pressing for solution; with the foundations of the Constitution undermined by lawless unions on one side and lawless trusts on the other; with law and order and prosperity threatened by labor wars, with the yeast of socialism and anarchy fermenting in the public mind; with nine million negroes to be educated and fitted into some sort of tolerable living relations with their white neighbors, you propose to divert the nation's thought and energy from the duties that crowd upon it at home to a career of rowdy adventures abroad.

Mr. Bryan Tenders His Services To Speak.

Secretary Urey Woodson, of the Democratic National Committee, has received a letter from William J. Bryan, in which Mr. Bryan says he will be at the disposal of the Democratic committee for campaign purposes during the month of October. Mr. Bryan indicates that he would prefer speaking in the West, mostly in Indiana.

August Planting

Spinach may be sown the first of the month for the late fall crop. The difficulty with the seed is to get it to germinate if the weather is dry, as it often is the latter part of summer, as spinach seems to need more moisture than most seeds. A way to remedy this is to make a trench three or four inches deep and fill with water. When it is empty fill again. Then fill the trench partly with earth, sow the seed and cover with loose soil enough to make a good mulch.

Radishes are now sown for fall and winter use. There is usually plenty of room in the garden at this time of the year and a part of it might well be utilized for growing a crop of roots that will be highly relished next winter. Radishes grown the cooler part of the season are best. If the ground is dry the same treatment as for spinach is recommended.

By sowing kale during the month a supply is obtained for late fall and winter use. This is a vegetable which is improved by freezing. Unfortunately it is liable to be attacked by the little green lice which prey upon cabbage, turnips and other members of the "Brassic" family.

If the early sown beets were a failure it is not too late for raising a supply. They may be sown as late as the middle of the month or even later. Of course early varieties should be given a good chance to grow. The results are sometimes very satisfactory. After a late spring, like the last, the summer and fall following are quite likely to be late too, in which case there will be ample time for growing beets.

It may sound strange to say that the best cucumbers for pickles are grown from seed planted in August, but that is the claim made on the authority of a Canadian experience. If that holds good in Canada it ought surely to be true of the border states this side of the line. Yet why should it not be so? The cucumber does best in cool weather. Large growers sometimes raise the crop between rows of corn, the stalks affording a little shade through a part of the day.

For late "greens" the collard will be found quite serviceable if sown now. It is no more nor less than a loose-headed cabbage. In the southern states it is appropriately called "cabbage greens."

For a convenient vegetable, one that can be grown in out-of-the-way places and in plots of ground that can be utilized for no other purpose, the fat turnip takes first rank. The seed may be sown as late as the first of September and still be in time to make a fair growth of roots. These turnips are of small culinary value when compared with rutabagas or Swedes, for they soon become woody after getting their growth, but they utilize the ground, serve as a cover crop and are good for stock. They may be sown broadcast or in drills.—F. D. W., in National Stockman and Farmer.

Important to Voters. Watch Registration Certificate.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

That section 1, article 8, of an act entitled, "An act to regulate elections in this Commonwealth," approved June 30, 1892, being section 1486, article 4, chapter 41, of the Kentucky Statutes, be, and the same is, hereby amended by adding after the word "fourth," in the second line of said section, the words "fifth and sixth," so that said section, as amended, shall read as follows:

§ 1. In all cities and towns of the first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth classes there shall be a registration of all the qualified voters of the respective cities and towns, which registration shall be held and conducted as herein provided.

Notice on Conference at Lexington.

The services of the Methodist Conference Wednesday morning began with a masterly address by Bishop A. Coke Smith, of Virginia, presiding officer.

His text was: "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."

Next was the election of a secretary, Rev. W. E. Arnold. The roll call showed 145 ministers present, 42 lay delegates and a large number of visitors.

One of the most important questions that came before the conference yesterday was concerning Rev. Julius E. Wright.

Rev. Wright was transferred to the Indian Nation Mission conference by Bishop Hendricks last year and he presented a written statement asking for a ruling in the conference upon his status.

Much discussion Bishop Smith ruled that his membership was with the Indian Nation Mission Conference and not here. Rev. Wright was a member of this conference for thirty years.

The conference decided that he would first have to become a member of the Indian Mission, and receive credentials from the conference transferring him back to the Kentucky Conference. Mr. Wright was much disappointed over the action of the conference.

Reports made by the presiding elders show four new districts, an increase of ten new churches, and a number of charges showing that the missionary assessments had been paid in full this year. Heretofore only 50 to 75 per cent. have been paid and the fact that they have been in full this year is a splendid showing.

Another important feature was the application of Rev. Simmons, Newport, and Rev. E. E. Dawson, of Winchester, to become members of this conference. Both of these ministers are members of the Christian Church, but desire to join the Methodist. Rev. Simmons was once before a Methodist minister and went to the Christian Church, while Rev. E. E. Dawson has always been in the Christian ministry. We do not know Rev. Simmons, but we do know Rev. Dawson, reared in Bath county, married in Morgan.

Rev. C. F. Oney will apply for readmission into the conference after being out of the state for about a year.

Dr. Baker, of Philadelphia, the national secretary of the anti-saloon league, addressed the conference on "Temperance" on Thursday morning.

Daily Expense Of Fair is $65,000.

The attendance at St. Louis last week was 641,283. At Chicago Fair for corresponding week was 1,016,041. It is to be hoped that there will be a decided increase in the admission during the months that remain. The exhibition is one of the extraordinary attractions and the idea long prevalent that visitors can only attend at an enormous expense has been fully dispelled.

President Francis says that the daily cost of operating the plant is $31,000, and that, including the repayment of the Government loan at the rate of $500,000 every two weeks, the daily cost is $65,000.

Rev. Robert L. Bussabarger, a graduate of Kentucky University last June, left Wednesday for Seattle, Wash., to assume the pastorate of the Christian Church.

ROOSEVELT AND LYNCH LAW

Senator Bailey Fraigns President for his Views on Mob Violence.

"If there are among us men who justify the lawless spirit which sometimes expresses itself in a public lynching they could not find in all the range of English literature a more pointed and complete defense of such conduct than has been furnished by the Republican candidate for the Presidency. Long before the dream of the chief magistracy of this country ever entered his brain he devoted himself to the more pleasant but less pretentious task of writing books and in a work which he calls 'Ranch Life and Hunting Trail' he thus records his approval of the mob:

"During the last two or three years the stockmen have united to put down all these dangerous characters, often by the most summary exercise of lynch law. Bands of horse and cattle thieves have been regularly hunted down and destroyed in pitched fight by parties of armed cowboys, and as a consequence most of our territory is perfectly law abiding."

"It is one of the interesting oddities of the President's mind that he can contemplate with equanimity, a country made 'perfectly law abiding' by the unauthorized and unlawful warfare of the mob against the outlaws. The President then adds, as if relating to a commonplace incident, this mild statement: 'A little over two years ago one committed of vigilants in Montana shot and hung nearly sixty—not, however, with the best judgment in all cases.'

"In his work, entitled 'Winning of the West' the President asserts that 'good men in such cases hand themselves together to put down such ruthless severity by the exercise of lynch law the worst of hand. In many cases of lynch law which have come to my knowledge the effect has been healthful to the community.'

"And in another place the President rather defends the people of the border community for lynching horse thieves.

"I rejoice to know that whatever may have been done and said in the Southern States which thoughtful men cannot indorse, it has never happened among us that any man with intelligence enough to write a book or with character enough to command an election to an important office has ever justified lynching as a punishment for theft."—From Senator Bailey's speech in Brooklyn.

World's Fair "Pike" Show That Was Somewhat Too Swift.

Through the efforts of the Rev. Clarence B. Strouse, of Salem, Va., and Col. Noel Gaines, Inspector General of the Kentucky State Guard, a show on the Pike at the St. Louis Fair known as "Constantinople" has been closed by order of President Francis as being indecent. The closing was ordered only after a vigorous fight by these men and prominent church people of the World's Fair city, who took their fight before President Roosevelt and the directors of the fair.

NAILED.

The Republican Campaign Book is a document with many misstatements claiming its party has been instrumental in the passage of every act that has proven of benefit to the people. That the voters may know of some of these claims and in order to place these statements where they belong in the category of falsehoods we refer our readers to their claims to the rural free delivery enactments and furnish an authentic expose. In making this misstatement the party campaign managers have hope of gaining favor with the farmers, and in some measure palliate the effect of vicious legislation that has brought hardship to them. The facts show that the farmers' interests were ignored in legislative acts offered by Republicans pretaining to free delivery, and that the clause and enactment which resulted in free delivery outside of towns was introduced by Democrats.

There was no rural free delivery prior to 1892. Postmaster-General Wanamaker had recommended its extension to smaller cities and villages, but had not recommended free delivery to the farming communities.

The first suggestion of that kind was proposed by the Hon. L. F. Livingston, Democratic member from the State of Georgia, when he offered the following amendment to the Post Office Appropriation Bill, on June 21, 1892:

"Amend line 10 page 3, by striking out the word '6' and in-serting the word 8, and also after the word 'dollars,' in line 11, these words, provided that $200,000.00 shall be used for experimental free rural delivery outside the towns and villages." (See Congressional Record, 1st Session, 52d Congress, pages 49-54.)

That amendment was ruled out on a point of order, and other similar amendments offered by Democrats met the same fate.

In the following session of the succeeding Congress, February 17, 1893, an amendment was offered by Hon. Thomas E. Watson, at that time a Democratic member from the State of Georgia, to the Post Office Appropriation Bill, providing that $100,000 be expended by the Postmaster General as an experiment for rural free delivery to the farmers. This being a Democratic Congress, that amendment was adopted, and the Bill as amended became a law. Mr. Harrison was then President and Mr. Wanamaker Postmaster-General. The appropriation, however, was not used during their term of office, nor during the first two years under Mr. Cleveland, Democratic Congresses, however, continued making appropriations, and in 1895 $200,000 was appropriated for this purpose and during the fiscal year 1896-1897, under Postmaster-General Wilson, a Democrat, the first 84 rural routes were established the first route being established in Bartholomew county, Indiana, in 1896.

In the Record of March 18, 1904, included in the remarks of Hon. C. R. Thomas, of North Carolina, will be found a letter from Postmaster-General Payne, dated February 25, 1904, addressed to the Hon. L. F. Livingston, House of Representatives, containing the following:

"Sir: Replying to your letter of the 18th instant making certain inquiries relative to the history of rural free delivery service, I would refer you to the acts making appropriations for the postal service for the fiscal years 1893-4, 1894-5, 1895-6, 1896-7, from which I quote as follows:

"1896-1897, for free delivery service, in all, $12,818,250. * * * Provided further that $10,000 of this amount may be used to defray expenses of experiments in rural free delivery, under the direction of the Postmaster-General, and that the amount heretofore appropriated for this purpose and still unexpended be available for said experiments."

"During this fiscal year, 84 rural routes were established on the order of Postmaster-General Wilson."

(Signed) HENRY C. PAYNE,
Postmaster-General.

This was therefore the inception of rural free delivery to the farmers. It was originated by a Democrat, first appropriated by a Democratic Congress, and instituted by a Democratic Executive. Like all reforms of that kind in the postal service, it began, of course in a small way as an experiment. It was continued as an experimental service, the appropriations rapidly increased received in the House always a practically unanimous Democratic vote, and several times the appropriations were increased upon the motion of a Democratic member. Having demonstrated its usefulness to the farming communities, the service was, two years ago, placed upon a permanent footing.

ROOSEVELT A FREE TRADER.

On a protection platform Mr. Roosevelt must keep silent or else give reasons of his remarkable change of mind. The following is interesting reading. If a free trade then he favored not reformation of tariff laws but a complete abolishment of all duties. The people should know the man they are to vote for or against, what he has been for and what he now is. If Mr. Roosevelt has changed he should give reasons that led him to this change, and no man has a right to censure him for following honest convictions. The public must know his arguments or they must conclude he is a man of mental instability or is willing to yield principles for position.

No one ever heard of Roosevelt as a protectionist until he became a candidate for Vice President, and now for President. He stands on the Republican platform pledged for protection, which makes the rich richer at the expense of the masses. Mr. Roosevelt should talk on the tariff and protection doctrines. We give some of this gentleman's record:

He joined a free-trade club in New York and continued his membership during all the time he was a member of the assembly and until after the nomination of James G. Blaine in 1884.

In the Life of Thomas H. Benton, Author Roosevelt writes, among other things, in regard to the tariff as follows:

"Political economists have pretty generally agreed that protection is vicious in theory and harmful in practice; but if the majority of the people in interest wish it, and it affects only themselves, there is no earthly reason why they should not be allowed to try the experiment to their heart's content. The trouble is that it really does affect only themselves, and in 1828 the tariff was peculiarly aggravated on account of the unequal law in which the proposed law would affect different sections. It purported to benefit the rest of the country, but it undoubtedly worked real injury to the planter States, and there is no ground for wonder that the irritation over it, in the region affected, should have been so intense."

Again in speaking of the tariff, he says:

"In 1828 the tariff, whether it benefited the country as a whole or not, unquestionably harmed the South, and in a federal union it is most unwise to pass laws which shall benefit one part of the community to the hurt of another part, when the latter receives no compensation."

In commenting upon the speech of Clay in defense of a protective tariff, Author Roosevelt says:

"Clay's assertions as to what the tariff has done for the West were equally ill founded, as Benton showed in a good speech wherein he described picturesquely enough the industries and general condition of his portion of the country, and asserted, with truth, that its revived prosperity was due to its own resources, entirely independent of Federal aid or legislation."

A FORETASTE.

The North and East have had a holy horror of the mob violence in the South, and more particularly in relation to the negro race, friends who receive speedy punishment without waiting for judge or jury. But now in these latter days the negro in the North and East, where he has sought protection from feigned friends and because he would earn his living by the sweat of his brow accepting rejected positions of the white man is swung off into eternity. What's the matter with these grieving friends. If for so slight a provocation the negro receives so violent punishment in the North what would become of the race when the crime of rape has been committed as in the South. The North is getting only a foretaste of what is sure to follow if the negro continues to live there,

FACTS and OBSERVATIONS

AT STANTON, KY.

The writer spent Monday at Stanton, from Clay City as an excursion of two cars went to Natural Bridge. Enroute we learned that at Campton, G. W. Robison, now of Winchester, is building a three story frame business house 40 by 100 feet. Catron & Co., are building a business house on jail lot opposite S. S. Combs & Sons' STANTON.

County Court was in session. We found Democrats as busy as bees working for the county primary which has been called for October the 8th. The following are the candidates thus far announced:

County Judge—
G. M. Derickson, D. R. Daniel, Jeff Allen, H. G. Walters.

County Attorney—
J. D. Atkinson, M. A. Phillips.

County Clerk—
W. G. Frazier, A. H. Norton, Edward Rose, Chas. Ewen, Chas. Crowe, Green Bowen.

Sheriff—
T. B. Ware, Jno. M. Kennon, Thos. M. Call.

Jailer—
Y. C. Bowen, Geo. Stephens.

Superintendent—
F. P. Tracy, Rev. R. A. Irvin.

Assessor—
James Woolery, I. B. School, Fielden Powell.

W. G. Frazier, County Clerk, has been seriously sick since June term of Circuit Court. The duties of his office have been attended to by M. R. Lyle, the Circuit Clerk.

W. D. Jackson, a prominent lawyer and Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, is dangerously sick. His heart and liver are involved. His friends fear that he will not recover.

J. S. Ewen's babe has been quite sick for nearly two weeks.

Edwin Ross, Clay City, is confined to his bed.

Enroute to Heatsville the train stopped at Tormont we had time to go to stake heads with Dr. Shipley, T. A. Howell and Jack Graves who are luxuriating in the delights of Tormont and hay fever. From Heatsville Junction the train reached Heatsville by the new process. For the benefit of travelers we will say that the morning L. & E. train from Lexington does not connect at this junction (but walking is good, or if you prefer you can boat or swim down the river.) also the extra train from Heatsville which connects with L. & E. train going to Lexington is the train leaving Heatsville at 6:45 a. m. Connection is made with trains to Jackson.

At Heatsville we asked what the ringing of a bell meant. Preaching at Presbyterian Church was the answer. Rev. J. A. Irvin, of Clay City, is the pastor. A protracted meeting began this (Monday) night. The preacher is Rev. E. W. McCorkle, of Nicholasville, a very pleasing and persuasive and elegant gentleman. He introduced to the writer his wife as the great niece of Alexander Campbell, and with a smile said: You have heard of Alexander Campbell. We assured him we had once heard of such a man. Wishing that he would during his stay accomplish much for the Master we said good night and went to the hotel. As we went to the church a boy said the town has five churches and three saloons. We are told that the population in Lexington, New Town, and Proctor (across the river) is between 600 and 700.

You Know the Studebaker Wagon

For more than fifty years its reputation has grown better every year. This reputation is due to the good quality that has always been a part of the Studebaker Wagon. Each part is made from the lumber that is best fitted for that part. New England black birch makes the best wheels—the Studebaker hubs are made of it. Built out, second growth black oak is the best for axles—Studebaker axles are made of it. Selected white oak is best for spokes and running gear—that is what is used in the Studebaker Wagon. Insurance Department Shows Increase of $50,000 Over Last Year.

In his annual report August 31, to the auditor of collections, State Insurance Commissioner, Henry R. Prewitt, shows an excess over last year of nearly $50,000. The revenues of this department of the State government are the licenses on companies doing business in the State and tax on premiums collected by the companies during the year. During the last month the commissioner has collected as tax on premiums for the year the sum of $220,584.43. For the year previous there was collected the sum of $183,369.10. There was collected as license on companies the sum of $7,905.17 in excess of last year, making a total excess over last year the sum of $46,274.27.

Enormous Sum Paid Pensioners.

Railroad Searchlights.

When a heavy train is rushing in the dark at sixty miles an hour, a weak headlight is no protection. It cannot reveal the trouble ahead soon enough for the engineer to stop his train.

A number of the newest engines have been supplied with headlights that are visible a mile away, and light the track hundred of yards in front of the engine. The ordinary high-speed mail-train can be stopped inside of fifteen hundred feet. So a light that can cover this distance is as great a protection as the noon sun.

The new lights are run by a small dynamo in the engine. Some of them are as high as six thousand candle-power, and make the old-time reflector look feeble and yellow.

A further improvement is a device which allows the engine to "see around corners." The light is governed by a lever in the tender, by means of which the fireman can turn the light sideways down a curve in the track. The old-fashioned light, fixed permanently to the smoke-stack, projects its rays directly ahead, and thus left the track in darkness except on a straight road.—Harper's Weekly.

Agricultural Education.

The farmer's greatest need is education. He should have as good education as our public schools can give as a foundation for the special knowledge of the different branches of farming which he pursues. The farmer needs to read and study more than he does. It is not uncommon for farmers to discuss matters pertaining to their husbandry that they are clearly evident that they are unimformed about things which they should understand in order to get the best results for money and labor expended.

In the United States there is an excuse for farmers to be without considerable knowledge of farming in its different branches. Our Federal government does a great amount of investigation, the results of which is given gratis to everyone. The different States have agricultural colleges and experiment stations, where investigations and experiments are constantly carried on, and in different ways do those institutions seek to interest the farmers in their work that they may learn the truths which science has revealed. The farmer must be able to see which crops will, as a rule, be most beneficial for him to raise. He must understand what different crops require in order to yield the most, and he should know how to sow his land that it gradually will come to be in the best condition, and he needs to understand how to maintain it so. The farmer also needs to know how to feed and care for his animals; know the value of the different feeds he uses, and their effects on the different animals in the different stages of their lives, so as to get the best returns for what he expends. Knowing these things, it will not be difficult to produce in abundance. There need not be such a thing as an abandoned farm because it is exhausted.

The farmer also needs to know how to market his produce. Having acquired knowledge and worked diligently and produced abundance, the farmer still stands helpless; he cannot market his produce at any time, when the markets happen to be the best the roads are often impassable. One of the greatest needs of the farmer is good roads. The loss to the nation from having bad roads is incalculable. Good roads benefit every class of people, directly or indirectly. We are wealthy enough to build good roads; the farmer alone should not build them.

With better knowledge of farming and with good roads we would have a far better country than we have. Our pecuniary circumstances would be greatly improved. There would be greater sociability and more contentment among the farmers, less confusion in the cities and lower intellects; this would very materially help to give the nation safety from political campaigns. Only the uninformed can be misled.

Let us acquire knowledge and work faithfully. With good roads, productive soil and abundant resources we can prosper; as no other nation on earth.—Tribune Farmer.

WORK HORSES WALK FAST.

Have Their Loads Behind Them and Know There Must Be No Loafing.

Do you know that the average team of work horses can walk faster than your old, easy-going family "hobbin" can trot? They can and do every day of their drudging lives, says an authority. Your old "hobbin" is a "moocher," a "four-flusher," so to speak. When he gets into the harness he starts out with the idea of fooling you apertmost in his mind.

When he is delicately tapped with the tip of a whip or carelessly slapped with the reins, he comes out of his colthead dreams and, with his ears cocked forward, begins his blurt.

If in the country, he kicks up great clouds of dust—not because he's going fast, but because he's too lazy to lift his feet. In the cities you can hear him strike the pavement with the same regular click as the old clock and tick faster. The old fake wobbles himself, though in such a manner that you get the idea that he's making time. He's really going about three miles an hour.

In the other hand, when your work team starts out the horses know that no summer excursion or shopping expedition is on hand. They have been taught to know the meaning of the whip's sharp crack—in their coltish days if they couldn't learn to heed the warning sound of the "blackamp" they were made to feel it bite. So, when the seasoned work horses get in the harness, they lean against the load nobly and keep it up for hours.

It is estimated by horsemen that an ordinary team of work horses will travel at the rate of four miles an hour and an extra fast pair will get over the ground at a five-mile-an-hour clip.

THE PURSE WAS TEMPTING.

Salesman in City Store Has a Good Time Studying Human Nature.

Picking up a worn out, empty pocketbook, a salesman in one of the large dry goods stores thought he would have a little fun with it. He therefore placed it on the counter, half-concealed by the goods lying on it. Presently a shopper entered. Her eyes lighted on the wallet as by instinct, and while picking half a score of articles she endeavored to cover it quite artlessly, of course, now with her handkerchief, then with her umbrella, and again with her umbrella, relates the Chicago Tribune.

The salesman, without appearing to notice her actions each time he removed the pocketbook out of danger and into light. Finally she adopted new tactics and picked it up with the remark:

"Yes?" replied the clerk, interrogatively. "Thank you." And he took the leather and disappeared with it for a moment.

Even his return the woman asked with a slight show of interest:

"Was there much in it?"

"Only $3," replied the salesman, carelessly, with the case of one who has been used to lying all his life.

"And who will get it if it isn't found?" asked the shopper.

"The firm," is the epigrammatical response.

The woman went out. In ten or fifteen minutes a boy came in and asked:

"Was a pocketbook with $3 found here this morning?"

"Yes," replied the salesman, "but it has been called for."

"O," said the boy and retired. And the salesman smiled and bly.

CONFEDERATE REUNION.

A FESTAL OCCASION.

THOUSANDS WERE THERE
—LAVISH HOSPITALITY,
FINE SPEECHES AND GOOD

Memories of Days of Strife Revived,
But a Spirit of Peace Brotherly
Love Blind the Lives of All Together.

The Confederate Reunion which met on Wednesday, Aug. 31, 1904, in the beautiful grove of Col. Thos. Johnson near Somerset Church had been well advertised. The estimates of attendance varied from 2,500 to 4,500. The people began to arrive early. Clark, Bourbon, Bath, Nicholas counties were represented, a few soldiers from other counties came.

When Col. Thos. Johnson, the oldest and most honored soldier arrived at the gate he was met by a procession of his comrades, headed by his fine silk flag, made by Mrs. Henrietta Williams, and carried by his company through the war.

A speaker's stand had been erected and decorated in appropriate colors. Music was furnished by the Mt. Sterling band; and the life and drum recalled the days of conflict.

Capt. Leland Hathaway, of Winchester, was master of ceremonies. Rev. Chas. Fetter, of this city, opened the exercises with prayer. H. B. Kinsolving made a fine welcome address. The response was by Capt. Hathaway. Rev. E. O. Guerrant was pleased to be present and in stirring speech reviewed the scenes of other days with sacrifice and suffering were experienced. Major A. T. Wood the well known Republican politician and Federal Soldier made a good impression. He recognized the guiding hand of God in the stripes of men when war prevails and said there are no accidents in their termination. He closed by a tender appeal to men to be good law-abiding citizens and to do good.

Dinner was then announced. Long tables in a hollow square had been erected under the trees. The supply tables were within.

The old soldiers were served first. Lavish and bountiful hospitality was furnished. The people of that section provide such on all occasions. Some people from town and other neighborhoods took baskets.

We hear reference made to reckless waste and confusion. Those who served the people were hindered by thoughtless persons who crowded into the reserve and precluded in helping themselves. A few may have gotten no dinner.

Before the adjournment for dinner no mention was made of speeches in the afternoon, hence many did not know that Rev. Fetter and Col. J. S. Hurt were to speak. The adjournment was orderly. There were no disturbances.

Judge A. A. Hazelrigg is an announced candidate for County Judge of Montgomery county to succeed himself and of course his claims are subject to the action of the Democratic party. Judge Hazelrigg does not have to declare to the people that he is a Democrat and always has been for he has been so pronounced that the people know the party he affiliated with, and while a pronounced party man, when elected to office he stood by duty as he saw it and measured out law according to its constructions regardless of party affiliations. He is an officer of the entire county, a popular man and popular official because he has done his duty. The public can not ask more, if our memory serves us right he, with his board of magistrates, has provided the payment of $30,000 on the purchase price of our turnpikes, $8,000 on Court-house bonds, $12,000 on railroad and floating indebtedness, besides the pikes are in better condition than when purchased and are being made better. A bridge has been constructed over Slate creek at Howard's Mill and a female department in the jail has been provided. The county affairs with Judge Hazelrigg at the head are in safe hands.

A Candidate.

For the County Clerks office there will be a race for the Democratic nomination as sure as time rolls around. The gentlemen are in training now and in this issue Fred Bassett has entered subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We don't have to tell who Fred is for whatever he has gone into he has come out ahead. We were with him in the printing business and saw him move out after news and work, he got there in fine condition. We observed him as a business man and no one went behind the counters that did more. As a representative of the Power Grocery Co., he at once went up among the best ones, and for a goal offered by his firm he is in the bunch.

Such a career is sufficient to justify us in the statement that the man that beats him for this position will know that he has been in a race. Fred is a Democrat free from splits or knots of any kind and is game to the backbone. He is competent and is so quick of attainment that in a very few months he would be thoroughly conversant with the duties of the office. He is making this race as plain Fred Bassett, because he wants the office and because he knows it is coming to him as much as to any other citizen of Montgomery County.

W. R. Nunneley has returned from Martinsville, Indiana, where he went hoping to get relief from hay fever. While there he was taken with a stubborn attack of asthma from which he continues to suffer. WHAT IS CATARRH?

Hymel Only Guaranteed Cure for This Common and Disagreeable Disease.

Hymel cures catarrh by the simple method of breathing it into the air passages and lungs. It kills the germs of catarrhal poison, heals and soothes the irritated mucous membrane and effectually drives this disease from the system.

If you have any of the following symptoms, catarrhal germs are at work somewhere in the mucous membrane of the throat, bronchial tubes or tissues of the lungs.

dryness of the nose pain in back of the throat pain in front of the throat coughing to take cold burning pain in the throat hawking to clear the throat pain in the chest
a rough, red throat
stiffness in the throat loss of voice
hoarse, raspy voice
difficultly in breathing frequent sneezing
loss in the throat
Hymel will destroy activity of all catarrhal germs in the respiratory organs and in a few weeks the cure will be complete.

This is a strong statement, but W. S. Lloyd emphasizes it by agreeing to refund your money if Hymel does not cure. 8-10

OURS IS A "WORLD POWER."

The United States Has Not Recently Attained This Distinction.

"Ours is a world power, and as such it must be maintained, but I deny that it is at all recently that the United States has attained that eminence. Our country became a world power over a century ago, when, having thrown off foreign domination, the people established a free government, the source of whose authority sprung, and was continuously to proceed, from the will of the people themselves. It grew as a world power as its sturdy citizens, whose natural increase were added immigrants from the old world seeking to obtain here the liberty and prosperity denied them in their own countries, spread over the face of the land, reduced the prairies and forests to cultivation, built cities, constructed highways and railroads, till now a nation which at the formation of the government numbered only three millions of population, has become eighty millions, and from ocean to ocean and the lakes to the gulf, the country is the abode of a free and prosperous people, advanced in the highest degree in learning and arts of civilization. It is the liberty, the advancement and the prosperity of its citizens, not any career of conquest, that make the country a world power. This condition we owe to the bounty of Providence, folded in the great natural resources of the country, to the wisdom of our fathers, manifested in the form of government established by them, to the energy, industry, moral character and law-abiding spirit of the people themselves."—From Judge Parker's speech of acceptance.

FOR THE PUBLIC GOOD.

The Information Contained in This Citizen's Statement is Invaluable to Mt. Sterling People.

When a resident of Mt. Sterling, whose statement appears below, who has no monetary or other interest in the article which he endorses, who is anxious to do his acquaintances a good turn, who publishes in this paper his experience with Doan's Kidney Pills—that citizen must have good and sufficient reason for doing so. The following should dispel any doubts which may have existed in the reader's mind on this subject:

J. C. Wilder, of 30 Cox street, Lexington, carpenter, says: "My back pained so that I often thought it would actually break. At first I called it lumbago and did not give particular attention to the action of the kidneys. In time the cause of the trouble became so apparent that I tried to cure it by using medicines guaranteed for kidney complaint. I was unsuccessful until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. At the present time I am able to work hard all day and go home at night feeling comparatively well, a condition I was never in before I got hold of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Plenty more proof like this from Mt. Sterling people. Call at F. C. Duerson's drug store and ask what his customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 8-10

BOARD OF EDUCATION OF METHODIST EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE GETS ABOUT $260,000.

Howing and Hilliard Heirs Got an Equal Amount by the Settlement.

A settlement has been effected of the estate of Mrs. Fannie Speed, of Louisville, and the bequests have been paid.

After the small bequests were paid the remainder of the estate, amounting to about $255,000, was divided equally between the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Conference of Kentucky and the Henning and Hilliard heirs.

The Kenyon building and the Henning office building, of Fifth street, were given to the Board of Education.

Among the smaller bequests was that of $40,000 for the payment of the debt on the parsonage of Trinity M. E. Church.

By the terms of the settlement the Board of Education gets control of about $260,000, and it is probable that this will form the nucleus of an endowment of a great Methodist University.

Will Take Charge of Postal Office.

Raymond Anderson, who has been acting in the capacity of clerk at the local Postal Telegraph company's office has gone to Mt. Sterling to assume the management of the office there.—Morning Democrat.

WHISKY.

A barrel of whisky contains something more than an ordinary barrel of the same size; for, in addition to the regulation 42 gallons, it contains:

A barrel of headwaters, or headwaters of wine;
A barrel of cures, a barrel of blows;
A barrel of tears of a world-weary wretch;
A barrel of sorrow, a barrel of strife;
A barrel of unavailing regret;
A barrel of care and a barrel of debt;
A barrel of hunger, of pain, of pain;
A barrel of hope ever blasted and vain;
A barrel of despair, a barrel of crime;
That fall from the man's lips and lie dead,
A barrel of poverty, ruin and woe;
A barrel of tears of a world-weary wretch;
A barrel of crime and a barrel of grief;
A barrel of orphan's most pitiful moans;
A barrel of sorrow, a barrel of woe;
From the head of the laborer that flows in the glass.

Boy's Essay On Tobacco.

Tobacco grows something like a cabbage, but I never saw none cooked. I have heard men say that cigars that was given them election day for nothing was mostly cabbage leaves. Tobacco stores are mostly kept by wooden Indians, who stand at the door and offer them a bunch of cigars which is glued into the Indian's hand and is made of wood also. I tried to smoke a cigar once, and I felt like Epom salts. Tobacco was invented by a man named Walter Raleigh. When the people first saw him smoking they thought he was a steamboat and was frightened. My sister Nancy is a girl. I don't know whether she likes tobacco or not. There is a young man named Leroy who comes to see her. He was standing on the steps one night and he did not know as he would like it, and she said, "Leroy, the perfume is agreeable." But when my big brother Tom lighted his pipe Nancy said, "Get out of this house you horrid creature; the smell of tobacco makes me sick." Sauff is injured made out of tobacco. I took a little snuff once, then I sneezed.—Island Farmer.

Feet Swollen to Immense Size.

"I had kidney trouble so bad that I could not work," says J. J. Cox, of Valley View, Ky., "my feet were swollen to immense size and I was confined to my bed and physicians were unable to give me any relief." My doctor finally prescribed Foley's Kidney Cure which made a well man of me." For sale by W. S. Lloyd. 8-10

How Should They Know.

While visiting a small parish in a mining district a prominent Catholic prelate asked a nervous little girl what matrimony was.

"It is a state of terrible torment, which those who enter it are compelled to undergo for a time to prepare them for a better and brighter world," promptly came the reply, much to the chagrin of the priest of the parish.

"No, no," he remonstrated, "don't be scared; just think a little; that isn't matrimony, you know; that answer d'wishes purgatory."

"Let her alone," said the archbishop, "she's the right. What do you say I know about it, anyway?"—Philadelphia Press

A New Jersey Editor's Testimonial.

M. T. Lynch, Editor of the Philadelphia, N. J. Daily Post, writes, "I have used many kinds of medicines for coughs and colds in my family but never anything so good as Foley's Honey and Tar. I can not say too much in praise of it." For sale by W. S. Lloyd. 8-10

Coining Nickels and Cents.

The mint in Philadelphia is the only one in the United States which makes cents and nickels, and there will be a record-breaking production of these coins from September to December. The mint will devote itself exclusively to this coinage, and, as a result, $25,000,000 will be turned out each month. In the last four months of the year the demand for subsidiary coin is so great that the $400,000,000, it is estimated, will be exhausted by February.

This has been a record-making year at the mint. In one month more gold was coined than in any other similar time. Since January $117,000,000 in gold has been turned out, most of which has been forwarded to the Sub-Treasuries. In the vaults at the present time are 100,000,000 silver dollars held as collateral for silver certificates.

To Asylum.

Mrs. Martha A. Smith, of Morgan county, was taken to the Lexington Asylum on Wednesday.
